

A Message from the President

July 2001

Fellow Members,

All eyes are on Miami and the upcoming IAI conference. This should be the best IAI conference ever and with it being held in Florida I hope to see many of you there. If you are fortunate enough to attend, remember your obligation to co-workers and share the knowledge gained. This would be an excellent opportunity to conduct a training session and pass on the information you collect at the conference.

Speaking of the conference reminds me that there will be a number of FDIAl sessions held during the week to conduct the business of the association. Regional Directors and other officers of the association should make special note of the times and place of these meetings. If the attendance at the recent Board Meeting is any indication, we will need a large room.

FDIAI members attending the conference should remember that there will be an FDIAl registration area set up. Be sure to stop by and "check in" as part of your registration process when you arrive. Every member should note that the FDIAl nominating committee will meet on Tuesday and you should be thinking about participation in your association. Members also need to sign up for attendance at the annual installation banquet scheduled for Thursday night, July 26th. A special thank you to Printrak International, a Motorola Company for their sponsorship of this banquet. FDIAl members should stop by the Printrak booth and say thanks or write and let them know their support is appreciated.

On a different subject, have you noticed that our newsletter has grown in both size and content? I think the quality of articles has been excellent lately and wish to commend editor Alan Clark for his hard work. In fact, everyone who contributes to the organization should be recognized and congratulated for making Florida the best state division of the IAI.

William Schade
President
